

First I've heard of this.

Is this city or state work?

When is it supposed to happen?

Any comment period on this?

I know many folks aren't great fans of the welcome sign that is there now. I'm not as bothered by that sign myself as others, though the plantings there do help a lot, and I can envision a much more attractive sign. However, I am concerned whenever any park land is taken, especially for automobiles. This when progressive cities are constraining automobiles, not accommodating them. And I can only assume the handsome construction at that end of the WPA wall would be destroyed. Would it be replaced?

For the record, I'm against any corner cut at this intersection that would impact the pedestrian path and the WPA wall.
