The following is a summary of the work done by the Land Office during the year 1900. The work was divided into three main branches: the Survey Branch, the Conveyance Branch, and the General Branch. The Survey Branch was under the direction of the Surveyor General, and the Conveyance Branch was under the direction of the Register. The General Branch was under the direction of the Commissioner. The Survey Branch did a large amount of work in the way of surveying and mapping. The Conveyance Branch did a large amount of work in the way of recording and indexing. The General Branch did a large amount of work in the way of managing the land office.
